CANNOT HAVE LAND NEAR UNCLE SAM

EUROPEAN NATIONS WARNED
BY SENATOR DAVIS.

Even Voluntary Cession of Territory Cannot be Permitted by the United States—Secretary Morton Criticized in the House—General Legislative News.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The speech of Senator Davis (Minn.) supporting the resolution, of which he is the author, enunciating the policy of the United States on the Monroe doctrine was the event of Monday in the senate. There was added interest and significance in Mr. Davis' utterances, as his resolution voiced the sentiments of a majority of the senate committee on foreign relations, of which he is a member. Mr. Davis spoke for two hours, and was accorded close attention throughout. The language was temperate and conservative and was not the radical utterance some had anticipated.

Mr. Davis spoke with gratification of the reports coming from across the Atlantic that a settlement of the Venezuelan trouble was likely to be effected, yet the senator declared with emphasis that the American people would never indorse a settlement based on concession of any feature of the Monroe doctrine. While minimizing the possibilities of war, the senator said that a firm and explicit announcement of our policy to resist European encroachments would give the surest guaranty of peace.

The senator reviewed at length the conditions existing in Europe at the time of the enunciation of the Monroe doctrine. He did not view the course of the British statesman, Canning, who favored the doctrine, as inspired by love for this country. It was a move in behalf of British trade, then beginning to expand the world over.

Speaking of the criticism that the pending resolution contemplated a protectorate over South American countries, Mr. Davis said it would bear no such construction nor would it bring about such results. It suggested no guardianship over southern countries. None of them was relieved from the chastisement of war by a foreign country, the only condition being that territorial extension shall not result from such war. There was nothing new or novel in the spirit of this doctrine, proceeded the senator. It was recognized and enforced by European governments, and Turkey offered a marked instance of the mutual agreement to refrain from territorial extension in the Ottoman empire.

Mr. Davis referred to the statement of Lord Salisbury that the Monroe doctrine is not based on any canon of international law, and the senator insisted that the right resided in any nation to interfere in the affairs of another state when conditions arose dangerous to its peace and safety. This was a recognized principle of international law, upheld by eminent English authorities from whom the senator quoted.

Mr. Davis took up the Venezuelan question and outlined its essential features. A map showing the various claims of Great Britain was bewildering in its intricacy. Great Britain had never fixed a definite line and declared, "Here is the limit." On the contrary, she had pushed westward to the Orinoco river, until the British claim covered 70,000 square miles of Venezuelan territory. Concerning this territory Great Britain asserted there should be no arbitration.

The senator said he was pleased to hear from across the water in the reports of the parliamentary debates that concessions had been made which would tend toward a settlement. But if this settlement was based on that feature of the president's message suggesting the propriety of a mutual settlement between Great Britain and Venezuela, the people of the United States would never agree to it. It would amount to a territorial extension. As a whole the president's message had been unobjectionable, but when that document was scrutinized it would be found to contain a reservation, exception and diminution of the Monroe doctrine never before attempted by an American statesman, except Calhoun.

It was no part of the Monroe doctrine that any voluntary cession of territory by a South American state to a foreign government was unobjectionable to the United States. It was as much a menace if the extension of territory was voluntary and peaceable as though it were the result of conquest.

The military academy appropriation bill was then taken up. Mr. Vilas (dem., Wis.) offered an amendment increasing the number of cadet appointments by two at large from each state, an aggregate of ninety. Mr. Gordon (dem., Ga.) spoke eloquently of the need of a "citizen soldiery," and in this connection urged that the recent rumbles of war should warn the country to be ready. The people are hoping and praying for peace between this country and Great Britain, but this would be more effective if it was backed by power.

Prussia Placed Restrictions.
Washington, Feb. 18.—The president Monday sent to the house, in answer to a resolution of inquiry, all of the correspondence had with the German government relative to the restrictions placed on American insurance companies in Prussia. It is shown by the correspondence submitted that on April 27, 1895, the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York was notified to conform to certain stipulated Prussian methods within a fortnight on pain of the cancellation of its concession. Immediately upon hearing of this Acting Secretary Uhl sent a cable message to Ambassador Runyon, stating on representations from the company that the company's methods in Germany had been unchanged since the concession was given, and that it was impossible to frame a special system for use in Prussia. The German government had promised to give the matter due consideration.

Commerce Committee Meeting.
Washington, Feb. 18.—Reciprocity and its effects on the cattle industry of the United States was the subject discussed by the ways and means subcommittee on commerce Monday. The committee listened to the arguments and explanations of a committee representing the National Live Stock association. The committee presented a memorial urging congress to pass laws whose effect will be to end and prevent discrimination against American meat products.

The association represents 2,000 firms and individuals. The members dispose of 8,000,000 cattle each year, the product representing a business of $600,000,000 yearly. They complain that their business with the outside world has been grievously cut into since the reciprocity treaties were abrogated, foreigners availing themselves of every chance to embarrass the American trade.

Still After Secretary Morton.
Washington, Feb. 18.—The agricultural appropriation bill occupied the attention of the house Monday. A great deal of criticism of Secretary Morton was indulged in on both sides of the political aisle, but, as on Saturday, no one arose to his defense. An amendment was pending when the house adjourned making mandatory the execution of the provision in the bill for the distribution of seed. It is understood that Mr. Cousins (Iowa) will offer an amendment directing the secretary of the treasury to withhold the payment of Secretary Morton's salary until this provision is executed. An amendment appropriating $42,360 for a new edition of the "Horse Book" was adopted.

Before the bill was taken up the senate amendments to the urgent deficiency bill were non-concurred in, and a bill was passed for the examination and classification of lands in the railroad grants in California.

Pacific Railroad Hearing.
Washington, Feb. 18.—The Credit Mobilier scandal figured in the hearing on the Pacific railroad reorganization question before the senate committee on Pacific railroads Monday, and brought out incidental reference to the possibility of such a scandal in connection with the Nicaragua canal. Mr. Thurber read a prepared statement in opposition to government ownership of the Pacific roads. The report upon which it was based, he said, had been submitted to the board of trade. Senator Morgan asked C. P. Huntington questions to bring out the facts as to the ability of the Southern and Central Pacific roads to control the traffic of the Union Pacific. Mr. Huntington declared that the question of rates and competition by the Canadian Pacific, Northern Pacific and Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe would determine.

Gold Taken from the Treasury.
Washington, Feb. 18.—Heavy withdrawals of gold from the sub-treasury at New York for use in future payments for bonds under the recent issue continue to be reported almost daily, and, so far as can be learned, there is no prospect of even a temporary cessation until the last installment shall have been paid. The withdrawals Monday aggregated $1,424,600 in coin and $31,600 in bars, which leaves the true amount of the gold reserve $36,203,489. The gold deposits on bond account, so far as officially reported up to the close of business Monday, amounted to $71,430,649.

May Save Missionary Knapp.
Washington, Feb. 18.—The state department has received a report by cable from United States Minister Terrell at Constantinople in reference to the case of the American missionary, Knapp, who was arrested at Bitlis by the Turkish authorities on a charge of inciting rebellion, on the evidence of certain Armenians who are now in prison. Mr. Terrell cables Secretary Olney that he has secured a suspension of the proceedings against the missionary and a safe conduct for him whenever the mountains can be crossed to Constantinople, where the minister himself will examine into the case.

Dupont Declared Elected.
Washington, Feb. 18.—Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, on Monday presented in the senate the views of the majority of that committee favoring the seating of Mr. Dupont

GOV. UPHAM SPEAKS TO THE LAW MAKERS

LEGISLATURE CONVENED AT NOON TODAY.

His Message Says That the Apportionment Should be Free the Faint of Partnership and Strictly Within the Constitutional Requirements—Asks for Short Session.

Madison, Feb. 18.—[Special].—At noon today, the legislature assembled. The first business of importance transacted was the hearing of a message from the governor. After detailing the work of the apportionment committee, the governor concluded with the following statement:

"In carrying out the direction of your honorable body, I deem it not improper to call your attention to the great importance of the work which now devolves upon you. No duty which a legislative body is called upon to perform should be freer from a taint of partisanship than that of redistricting the state into senate and assembly districts; nor should personal ambition or desire be allowed to vary your work from the line of strict fairness or constitutional requirements. The state constitution clearly defines the true principle of apportionment, and if any doubt existed at any time as to the proper construction of its provisions, its interpretation by the supreme court is clear enough to remove that doubt. No measure that does not comply strictly with the constitutional requirements should be allowed to become a law. This special session should be as brief as is consistent with an earnest and intelligent consideration of the measures which shall come before you."

Dissatisfaction Over the Day Verdict.
Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 18.—Outside of the personal friends of ex-Banker F. T. Day the general opinion on the verdict of the jury which acquitted him is that it was not warranted by the facts as they were brought out at the trial. All of the local papers condemn the verdict in no uncertain terms. Although Mr. Day will be brought to trial again on Saturday on the second count of the information, charging him with receiving a deposit on May 31, 1893, no one expects the case will be pushed. Many claim John B. Koetting, who is serving a term in Waupun for an offense similar to that with which Mr. Day was charged, should be pardoned.

Will Fight on Friday.
El Paso, Texas, Feb. 18.—The Fitzsimmons-Maher fight is now definitely set for Friday, and Buck Connelly has agreed to post for Maher $1,000 additional forfeit if his man is not in the ring to fight on that day. Julian, representing Fitzsimmons, made every possible concession and finally turned the whole matter over to a committee of five, all of whom were to be named by Connelly. If this committee decided that he was not entitled to the forfeit he would agree to wait until Friday and have the fight then. The committee decided against him and Julian gave in accordingly.

May Change Indiana Convention Date.
Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 18.—A special meeting of the democratic state committee has been called for Thursday to determine the vexed question of whether or not the state convention shall be postponed until after the national. The date is now fixed for one week before. The majority of the committee are said to favor "sound money," and the change has been suggested in order to prevent a struggle on this question in the state convention, for if it is held after the national meeting it will simply indorse the national platform. The silver men are opposed to changing the date.

Hangs One, Other Escapes.
Lexington, Ky., Feb. 18.—A mob of twenty masked men attacked the Wayne county jail at Monticello Sunday morning. The jailer was overpowered, his keys taken away, the cells unlocked, and Fountain Martin and James Troxell, white men, who were arrested several weeks ago charged with burning the barn of Bonnie Bates, were taken from the prison. The men were carried to a point near Steubenville, where, in a little grove, the body of Martin was afterward found cold in death hanging from a limb. Troxell escaped.

Ask for a Duty on Tea.
Washington, Feb. 18.—A delegation representing the tea trade of the United States appeared before a subcommittee of the committee on ways and means Monday to advocate the imposition of a duty on tea.

May Have an Extra Session.
Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 18.—A telegram was received at republican headquarters Monday from W. J. Kercheval, committeeman for the First district, announcing that all the republican members of the legislature in his district except one had signed the agreement which the state committee proposes to present to Governor Matthews. Chairman Gowdy expects to visit the governor and make his demand for a special session tomorrow.

WOMEN MEET DEATH IN A CUFF FACTORY

A FIRE HORROR AT TROY,
NEW YORK.

Three Are Dead, Thirteen are Hurt, and Four Are Missing—List of Fatalities May Reach Twenty—Excited Employees Plunge From Windows and Fire Escapes.

Troy, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Three women jumped from the sixth story of the McCarthy building on Franklin square to their death shortly after 5 o'clock Monday night. Three hundred others fought with furious flames, and many were frightfully burned and otherwise injured in the frantic efforts to gain places of safety. It is feared the list of dead may count up as high as twenty when the full truth is known. It is believed many were overcome by the heat and smoke and were consumed by the flames.

The total loss by the fire is from $250,000 to $300,000, with about $100,000 insurance. At least 500 people are thrown out of employment. The firemen worked with the thermometer down below zero, and suffered very much.

Following is the list of unfortunates as far as obtainable. The dead: MRS. MARGARET CARROLL, jumped from window.

MRS. FOLEY, jumped from window. MRS. ROBERT KANE, jumped from window.

The injured: Mamie Day, jumped and badly hurt. Annette Harrington, badly burned. Lillian Outhout, burned.

Mamie Rourke, burned. Lillian Kreiger, burned and badly bruised.

James Quinn, under wall; will die. Mrs. Johnston, badly burned; will die. Frank Rossi, Italian; bruised by falling walls.

Policeman Burke, bruised by falling wall.

Policeman Watson, bruised by falling wall.

Fireman McGuire, bruised by falling walls.

Lottie Hull, severely bruised. Nellie Hull, badly bruised.

The following are missing and probably dead. Mamie Danks.

Katie O'Connor. Miss O'Neill. Miss Herberscher.

Superintendent of Police Willard said: "The returns from the various precincts show that there are at least fifteen persons missing, and with the five already known to be missing, that will make twenty lost in the ruins. I am afraid that there are many more, for it seems to me impossible that all the people in that building should escape. A great many would not report to the police at all."

From the outside of the high building the first notice of impending disaster was the sight of a body of girls as they rushed out upon the fire escapes from the windows. The fifth and sixth stories of the building were occupied by the collar factory of Vanzant & Jacobs and J. Stettin & Co.'s shirt-waist factory. Flames burst through the windows almost instantly and the mass of frenzied humanity, finding the egresses too small for instant escape, began climbing over the sides of the fire escapes, and bundles of clothing filled with writhing humanity dropped at the feet of horrified passers-by. Within twenty minutes after the fire started there were three dead women laid upon the floor of an adjoining store and at least a dozen burned and maimed girls and women taken to the hospital or to their homes.

Of the 350 girls and women in the building, it is presumed that at least a half dozen are in the ruins, for it is impossible to locate all, and the number fixed at late writing as twenty may be exaggerated.

It was just thirty minutes before closing hours in Stettin & Co.'s factory, and the girls and women were working rapidly to finish up. In the cutting-room on the fifth floor the 150 girls were closing up their day's assignments and preparing to leave when the whistle blew. Lillie Kreiger, who was working near a machine, called to a small boy to light the gas over her work. The boy struck a match and threw the burning stub to the floor. It struck a pile of oily rags and in an instant the girl was enveloped in flames. With her clothes and hair burning she rushed to the window, and in an instant the room became a struggling, shrieking mass of humanity, filling the windows, the fire escapes and the only stairway. Jamming and pushing, tearing each other's clothes from their backs, turning in narrow corridors to find a sister or a mother or friend, the number in the exits augmented every minute by those from the other floors, these girls and women fought for their lives.

With rare presence of mind, Policeman Farrell, who was on the street, seeing that in the panic a number were liable to jump, let down the awning over the entrance. Barely had he let it down when two or three forms came flying down from the fifth and sixth stories, and, bouncing from the awning, fell to the sidewalk. Lily Kreiger, over whose machine the fire started, was one of these. She struck the awning, fell on her back and bounced to her hands and knees on the walk. She got up and staggered about until finally she regained her balance.

By this time nearly every window had a female form dangling from it, and when the firemen arrived there was a hustle to get the ladders up. At the center window on the sixth floor a woman hanging by her hands was forced out by the flames licking her face. With a last shriek she let go and came tumbling over and over until she struck the pavement. When picked up it was found she was Mrs. Margaret Carroll. Her spinal column was forced into her brain.

Just below her, in another window, hung a woman turning appealing glances to the crowd. The black smoke was pouring from the window, but no flame was visible, and the crowd yelled encouragingly to her to hold on. A high red flame reached out just then and licked her face, and in an instant her body was rebounding from the pavement. She was Mrs. Foley, a widow, and when picked up was dead.

On the same floor, hanging from another window, was a woman, and salvation in the shape of a ladder was most within her grasp when her strength failed, and she went twirling down to death. She was Mrs. Kane.

The firemen and police worked like heroes, and to their energy was due a great saving of life. At least a dozen women and girls were carried down the ladders or dragged out of the corridors, the officers and firemen going into the midst of the smoke and flames.

An adjoining house caught fire from the falling of a portion of the roof, and from it small buildings on the south caught. About 8 o'clock the firemen heard shrieks coming from the 2-story building on the south, and discovered an Italian peddler named Joseph Rossi, who kept a stand in front of the building, plinched by the legs under a heavy beam. Three policemen started to assist him, and with a fireman worked for three-quarters of an hour. They had just about got him loose when, with a roar the great south walls came crashing down, and the horrified spectators saw the brave little group buried from view. When the smoke and dust had cleared, there was a rush of willing workers, and in a little while the men were taken out. All were injured and had to be taken to the hospital. The Italian will probably die, but the brave policemen, while badly hurt, will recover.

Some of the women who escaped tell of stumbling over prostrate bodies, and are positive that scores of girls perished.

FIRE AT PHILADELPHIA.

Damage Will Amount to Close on Half a Million Dollars.

Philadelphia, Feb. 18.—The big soap, lye and coffee-essence manufactory of P. C. Tomson & Company, 953, 955 and 957 Ostego street, was totally destroyed by fire Monday morning. The dwelling-houses, 31, 33 and 35 Washington avenue, adjoining Tomson's factory, were completely gutted, and the works of the Philadelphia Coopers Company badly damaged. The total loss will be about $435,000. P. C. Tomson & Company's loss is about $400,000—$225,000 on the building, $100,000 on stock and $75,000 on the machinery. Tomson & Company's loss is nearly covered by insurance. The loss of the Philadelphia Coopers Company is $25,000; partially insured. The dwelling-houses adjoining Tomson's works and those directly opposite, on Ostego street, damaged to the extent of $10,000.

HEAVY LOSS BY FIRE.

Whole Block Destroyed at Grand Rapids, Mich., Early Monday Morning.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 18.—The Houseman Block, Pearl and Ottawa streets, burned Monday morning. The losses will aggregate about $200,000; partly insured. The fire started from the explosion of a lamp on the third floor about 3 o'clock, and many of the occupants had narrow escapes. E. L. Wedgewood and his wife were painfully burned, and were taken to the hospital. Mrs. Raymond and son were also injured. The Democrat office was completely wrecked, but the paper was issued from the Herald office this morning. The building was owned by the Houseman estate and valued at $100,000, with an insurance of $44,000.

Radical Action Against a Union.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Peremptory notice has been served by the Clothing Manufacturers' association upon the members of the Cutters' union in their employ that the regulations of the union, so far as they interfere with the conduct of the business as the employers wish, will be ignored. This dictum went into effect yesterday, and was decided upon at a meeting of the Manufacturers' association held Saturday. Many thousand workmen are affected.

No Amnesty for Political Prisoners.

London, Feb. 18.—The debate on the address in reply to the queen's speech was continued in the house of commons Monday. Mr. Timothy Harrington, Parnellite member for Dublin harbor, moved an amendment to the effect that amnesty be granted the Irish political prisoners. The motion was defeated by a vote of 279 to 117.

HE SAW HIS FATHER BURN TO A CRISP

OLD MAN'S AWFUL DEATH AT WATERFORD, WIS.

Ole Olson, Who Was to Watch the House in the Absence of His Son—Creamed Before the Eyes of People Who Could Render Him No Assistance.

Waterford, Wis., Feb. 18.—[Special].—A fatal fire occurred five miles north of this place, the victim being an old man. Ole Olson, who lives with his wife, child and father, went to see a relative a few miles away, and left the old man to watch the house. During his absence the house took fire. Neighbors tried to rescue the old man but the flames were so fierce that they could not get into the house. The old man was burned to death before their eyes, and the son returned just in time to see his father fall through the flooring. He was burned to a crisp. Loss on the building is $3,000, and the insurance $2,000.

JACKSON AND WALLING IN DANGER

Pearl Bryan's Slayers May Yet Be Lynched—Police on Guard.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 18.—Walling and Jackson, the accused murderers of Pearl Bryan, started from the jail at 8:30 this morning for a hearing in the police court on the charge of being fugitives from justice. In view of that fact, the following advertisement, which appeared in a morning paper without signature, is regarded with suspicion:

WANTED—MEN, ABLE-BODIED, 1,000, at Court and Sycamore streets, at 8:30 o'clock, Tuesday morning; come ready for work.

The entrance to the jail is at the corner of Court and Sycamore streets. The natural inference is that this is an incitement to riot inserted in the paper by some unknown promoter of mischief. If 1,000 men report there ready for work, that means trouble, and they can have both in any quantity desired. Whatever may be the personal feelings of the police toward the prisoners, they can be depended on to keep their oath to uphold law. The same may be said of the local military. The probabilities are against trouble.

Dr. W. H. Crane, the chemist who discovered cocaine in the stomach of Pearl Bryan, has just reported that his quantitative analysis showed the presence of two-thirds of a grain of that drug.

George H. Jackson, the revealer of the facts of the midnight drive to the scene of the tragedy, bears a spotless name wherever he has lived for from one to four years. In Springfield, Ohio, where he lived only a few months, his reputation with the police is bad. If he is wanted for embezzlement, as is alleged there, he can be had speedily. His testimony was the means of sending a colored minister to the penitentiary from Walnut Hills a short time ago. This has made him some enemies, especially beyond the confines of Cincinnati.

The effect of Jackson's revelation upon the prisoners has been more depressing than anything else that has transpired. A black head, a few blonde hairs and some hair-pins have been found in the newly discovered rockaway. These circumstances, with the established fact of the rockaway being out on that murderous night, are strongly corroborative of Jackson's story. It is barely probable habeas corpus proceedings may be employed to delay the extradition to Kentucky. Meanwhile Gov. Bradley has set his foot down against lynching, and the good citizens of Newport resent the imputation that they are not able to give the prisoners a fair trial.

The detectives have learned that Pearl Bryan was kept at the Herman hotel in Newport the night previous to her murder. After finding the driver and the surrey used by Jackson and Walling in taking their victim from Cincinnati to the Kentucky highlands for decapitation, the officers are working in Newport. They have now a complete chain of evidence against Jackson and Walling from the time Pearl Bryan came here from Greencastle, Ind., Monday, Jan. 27, till Friday night, Jan. 31, when she was murdered in a secluded spot between Fort Thomas and Newport, Ky.

Governor Bushnell will hear the requisition case today, after which there is no doubt of the transfer of the two suspects to Sheriff Plummer of Campbell county, Kentucky, who will hold them in the Newport jail. They are under indictment and will have a speedy trial.

G. A. E. Will Meet at St. Paul.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 18.—Irvin Robbins, adjutant to Commander-in-Chief Walker of the Grand Army of the Republic, has announced that it is practically settled that the national encampment will be held in St. Paul in accordance with the original plan. Railroads will make favorable rates. The meeting of the council of administration that was to have been held next week for the purpose of selecting a new city has been abandoned.

CARRIED THE BLOOD OF A NOTED RACE

SKETCH OF MRS. M. H. DICKINSON'S LIFE.

She Descended From the Aneke Jans Line, and Belonged to the Fifth Generation of the Famous Douw Family—Milton Revival Draws Well—Other News.

Milton, Feb. 18.—Mrs. Maria H. Dickinson, whose death in Johnstown, Rock county, on the 11th inst., was noticed in our issue of last week, was born September 11, 1826, at Jamestown, N. Y. She came to Wisconsin in 1845, and was married the following year to Reuben Dickinson, an early settler of Johnstown. To them were born five children, five sons and five daughters. Three of the latter died young. One of the sons, G. Olem, is an attorney in Shawano, this state. Her husband departed this life nearly twelve years since. Her funeral on the 14th inst. was largely attended and the funeral services were conducted by President Whitford. She belonged to the Dutch family of the Douw, some of whose members were famous in Holland and New York state. The emigrant was Captain Volckert Jansen Douw, a descendant of Gerardt Douw, the celebrated Dutch painter of Leyden, Holland, whose works are in all the public galleries of Europe. This Captain Volckert was born in Friesland, resided for a time in Friedrich Stadt, Germany, from which he fled in 1633 to the Netherlands, to escape the persecutions waged against the Mennonites. Soon afterward he settled in Albany, N. Y. His grandson married a daughter of a grandson of the first patrons, Van Rensselaer. She was a descendant of the famous Aneke Jans. The Douw Mansion, pictured in an old number of Harper's magazine, was situated about a mile and a half below Albany, on the opposite bank of the Hudson river. Volckert P. Douw, a son of the couple mentioned above, was the first judge of Albany County, New York, and vice president of the first provincial congress of the American colonies. Mrs. Dickinson belonged to the fifth generation of the Douw family in this country. Her mother was a Van Allen. On both sides she was connected with well-known Dutch families in the state of New York. She had the characteristics of her race, a large body, excellent health, a full face, industrious habits, frugal housekeeping and an even disposition. The revival meetings under the management of Reverends Chambers and Carpenter assisted by Evangelist Burrows and Prof. Spafford and wife have been largely attended and continue this week. The schedule of meetings covers most of the time between 9 a. m. and midnight, the business places close at 7:30 p. m. and personal invitations to take part are not lacking, consequently most of our citizens are in attendance either day or night. F. A. Root arrived in town Friday. He has been making a trip for the Dohmen company in northern Wisconsin and found trade light and druggists complaining of hard times. Amos Gould, of Lima, did business here last week. Fred Gould, of Lima, was the guest of M. H. Weaver Saturday. Soverhill & Porter shipped four cars of tobacco and received two at this station last week. Fetherston Bros. received two cars of flour and shipped one of oats. Vincent & Hassenger shipped one car of five hogs. The Drs. Whiting, of Janesville, transacted professional business here Friday. Rev. C. E. Carpenter occupied the pulpit at the Seventh day Baptist church Saturday morning. Miss Lura Dow, of Palmyra, was the guest of Milton friends Sunday. Max Doty, of Burke, who is attending college, is sick with pneumonia at the home of B. W. Brown. Miss Lottie Risdon is having a serious attack of inflammatory rheumatism. It was 4 degrees below zero Monday morning, the sixth time that the mercury has gone below zero this winter.

THREE BURLY BUMS SCARED THE BABES

HARMONY SCHOOL CHILDREN FIND THEM ASLEEP.

Had Forced an Entrance to the Temple of Education, Built a Coal Fire and Made Themselves Comfortable, But Escaped Before Help Arrived—Some Other County News.

Harmony school children had a scare that they will not forget, yesterday.

When a timid little maiden, whose education had just reached the "see-the-ox—It's-an-ox?—Yes-fat-ox" stage, sat her dinner pail down on the steps so that she could use both hands to open the door, she screamed and scurried away. Older scholars peeped in at the window, and then they, too, ran.

Three burly tramps were peacefully sleeping with their feet cocked up on the benches.

While the children had gone to summon help, the tramps awoke and lost no time in making their escape, so that when the men arrived there were no prisoners to care for.

Janesville officers were informed of the affair this morning but there is no hope of catching the "hoboes." The school is situated four miles east of the city. The tramps got in by forcing a window and building a good fire in the coal stove made themselves comfortable. None of the books or other effects of the teachers or scholars were missing but they had a good scare.

Sheriff Appleby's records show that from Nov. 15 to Jan. 15, forty tramps have been "accommodated" at the jail. Clinton sent 18, Janesville 11, Beloit 9 and Evansville and Edgerton one each.

WOODMEN IN AFTON CELEBRATE

St. Valentine's Day Bring a Pleasant Observation—Fire Presentation.

Afton, Feb. 18.—The Modern Woodmen of Afton Camp No. 2192 will have good reason to remember St. Valentine's day this year, for it marks the presentation to them of a more magnificent and costly "valentine" than any of the boys had ever dreamed of. The Woodmen's wives have been arranging for some time, for an entertainment and supper, to be given for the benefit of Afton Camp, and last Friday evening was the date fixed for the event. The entertainment was held in Lawton's hall, which was literally packed by an appreciative and enthusiastic audience. The programme was a varied one, comprising instrumental and vocal music, recitations, speeches and a dialogue, and concluded with the presentation by the ladies to Afton Camp, of a very beautiful and rich banner. Mrs. F. P. Starr, presenting the standard in a neat speech, which was responded to by the venerable consul of Afton Camp. The banner is a handsome creation of plush and satin, with heavy bullion fringe, ornamented in the center with a rich oil painting, in representation of a woodland scene, and bearing the inscription, "Afton Camp 2192, M. W. A. Afton, Wisconsin." The Afton "Neighbors" are enthusiastic over their elegant gift, and those who witness the great Woodmen parade in Janesville next summer, will see a very proud delegation marching with this ensign at its head. At the conclusion of the entertainment, supper was served in the basement of the Baptist church. Deputy Head Consul T. H. Love and wife, of Madison, were present, and good delegations from the Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbor Camps, of Janesville and Shopleve were in attendance. The proceedings throughout were exceedingly interesting and enjoyable and all agree that the ladies are master hands at entertaining. The population of Afton continues to increase, a son having been born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blunk, last Monday morning. Owing to the snow storm which prevailed here last Wednesday evening, there was not a very large attendance at the meeting of the Fortnightly club, held at the residence of Superintendent David Throne. The next meeting will be held at the residence of A. F. Tolles, Friday evening, Feb. 28th. The school in the Otis district, taught by Miss Virginia Scott, closed last Friday. The Afton athletic club meets regularly every Wednesday evening at its gymnasium in Lawton's hall. Remember the Modern Woodmen meeting next Saturday evening. All neighbors should be present. Miss Libbie Moore of Beloit, spent Sunday with Afton friends.

WORD TO MAGNOLIA REPUBLICANS

The Party of Protection Always Keeps Its From So—News Notes.

Magnolia, Feb. 18.—Just a little word of warning to the republican voters of our town. You know how we were deceived last election on the tariff, and all those years of hard times we have wished for the power of the safe party back again. Don't let side issues move us from our republican principles, but let us stand to a man for the party that has saved the country from ruin. We have reason to trust the republican party by what they have done in the past, and we know they will work for our best interests in the future. A word to the wise is sufficient. Rob Bryan, of Evansville, was in town Sunday. A horse belonging to George Hall, of Evansville, while hitched at Patrick Ryan's, got loose, and ran away. Ed. Ahlsson caught it near Warren Barrett's house. The cutter was right side up and no damage was done. M. E. prayer meeting at George Ahlsson's next Friday evening. Elder

Shepard is expected here some time in March to give a series of lectures on the Bible chart. Rev. Bolster, of Alexes, Ill., will preach at the Advent church, Sunday, February 23d, at 11 o'clock. Quite a crowd turned out to hear Elder Cox at the M. E. church last week. He is a plain earnest speaker and all feel well paid who listened to him. He and Elder Sidell furnished splendid music, both being blessed with very fine voices. Presiding Elder Pease delivered a good address at the M. E. church Sunday afternoon. Little Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Acheson, was quite badly scalded last Wednesday by upsetting a teapot of boiling tea on her arms and hands.

SOME SMALL TALK FROM PORTER

The People Who Come and Go—Several Are Sick.

Porter, Feb. 18.—Miss Lizzie Freeman left for Iowa last Sunday night to visit with relatives. Miss Etta Finnegan, of the town of Janesville, is staying with her sister, Mrs. M. Ford, who is convalescing from a severe attack of pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. John Burns, of Brooklyn, were visitors here last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. P. Barrett are rejoicing over the safe arrival of a son at their home. M. Bradley's little girl has been very ill of pneumonia, but is on the gain. John McCarthy, of Ponca, Neb., visited his parental home near here last week. Nell Roherty, of Chicago, was a visitor here recently. Miss Maggie Dumphy attended the marriage of her sister, Miss Nellie Dumphy, to D. F. Finnane, last Monday evening. The ceremony took place in Albany. Whaley-Sullivan's wood sawing machine is busy at work in this neighborhood. The many friends here of Mrs. Charles Jessup, who was formerly Ida Pond, of Porter, will be pained to hear that her husband died at their Englewood home last Thursday. The remains were brought here for interment last Saturday evening, accompanied by the surviving wife and only daughter, who have our sincere sympathy in the hour of their bereavement.

WE KEEP THE QUALITY UP

Just Before The Battle

of spring trade waxes fierce, we are creating no little activity in many departments, by a very noticeable reduction in prices of many goods that savor of winter.

Blankets--

To get the money out of them we are letting them go at figures mere shadows of their former selves. Their changed condition (the figures) causes a want-to-buy spirit to take possession of people who examine into the merits of our blankets.

Underwear--

If you've been wearing threadbare garments of late thinking they could be made to carry you through the balance of the winter, don't hold your life in the balance, risk catching a severe cold, but take advantage of the prevailing pinched prices and get new ones. We're selling all grades of Underwear at small prices.

Dress Goods--

We stimulated January dress goods selling by putting forth the best in our stock at irresistibly low figures. We have kept up the interest thus far in February, and predict even greater things for the balance of the month. Wise women are supplying themselves with waists, skirts, wrappers, dresses for the children, at prices, for reliable, fashionable, our quality, dress goods, that positively cannot remain much longer down where they are. For 25c you can get good firm all wool Serges, Henriettas and fancy weaves, For 33c better Plaids than others sell for 50c; excellent Serges that were 40c and will be that again ere long. The 59c table shows an assortment of dress goods that loudly proclaim their superiority and complain bitterly of their treatment. The lot comprises beautiful novelties in checks, mixtures, iridescents, and extra fine, high grade serges and henriettas.

Winter Garments

The return of spring will find the racks almost bare of fur caper, wool capes, plush capes. The $1 69 and $9 85 prices have charmed many women into buying. We have left some extra good values and pretty styles in jackets and cloaks for women and children, although each day sees several garments leave the store. Half prices are magnetical in their effect. Women who get such bargains cannot keep still about it, and that's what makes our stock grow less.

LESSON OF WATERLOO.

The Terrible Story of the Sunken Road.

And Its Awful Meaning to the Great Napoleon.

He Had Most Carefully Planned Everything

But Did Not Know the Danger of the Sunken Road.

Which Proved His Utter Ruin and Destruction.

Victor Hugo in that matchless word-picture of Waterloo, wherein he paints with such realistic vividness the awful carnage of the sunken road, tells the tragic story of a fatal mistake. In his moment of anticipated victory, when he thought the field was won, Napoleon ordered an advance only to see the flower of his army disappear in the bloody ravine of which he was ignorant. So sudden and unexpected was the shock, that when the voice of the cannon had ceased and the great battle was ended, he wandered across the bloody field leading his tired horse by the bridle, buried in thoughtful meditation, as Hugo paints him, the "somnambulist of the shattered dream still striving to advance."

Can we not apply this story to ourselves?

The weaknesses we disregard are our sunken roads and bring often our Waterloo of ill health.

Ignorance or neglect of some apparently little symptom may plunge us into fatal disease. Remember all dangerous diseases have a beginning. If you look to the little aches and pains, the nervousness, weakness, the tired, exhausted feeling, the sleepless nights, the indigestion, constipation, poor condition of the blood, the slight kidney or liver trouble, the spring debility, so sure to come at this season, as soon as you discover them, you can easily, by using that curer of disease, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, make yourself perfectly strong and well again.

It gave perfect health to Mr. Daniel L. Billington, of 29 Hammond St., Providence, R. I., who says: "Some time ago I was completely run down. I was weak, tired and debilitated all the time and good for nothing. My digestive organs became fearfully damaged and I could eat scarcely anything. What little food I could take caused me great distress. My sleep also troubled me and I would wake tired and unfreshed. I got almost no rest at night. "Hearing of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, I could not resist the temptation to try it. After taking it a short time I began to feel much better."

"I continued to steadily improve and am now entirely cured of all my troubles, thanks to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is a wonderful medicine and I advise everyone who is not in perfect health to use it."

Take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy this spring, for now of all times it is most dangerous to neglect your health, and the system is always made strong and vigorous by this perfect spring medicine. It is the prescription and discovery of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th street, New York City, who can be consulted without charge personally or by letter.

GRATIFYING RESULTS.

Interesting Experiments with the New Stomach Remedy.

Not a Patent Medicine, But a Safe Cure for All Forms of Indigestion.

The results of recent investigation, have established, beyond question, the great value of the new preparation for indigestion and stomach troubles; it is composed of the digestive acids, pepsin, bismuth, Golden Seal and similar stomachics, prepared in the form of 30 grain lozenges, pleasant to the taste, convenient to carry when traveling, harmless to the most delicate stomach, and probably the safest, most effectual cure yet discovered for indigestion, sour stomach, loss of appetite and flesh, nausea, sick headaches, palpitation of heart, and many symptoms arising from imperfect digestion of food. They cure because they cause the food to be promptly and thoroughly digested before it has time to sour, ferment and poison the blood and nervous system.

Judge Frank Ives, of District Court of Crookston, Minn., says: For some time I have used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with seeming great benefit, with few exceptions, I have not been so free from indigestion in twenty-five years.

Geo. W. Roosevelt, U. S. Consul to Brussels, Belgium: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, safe, pleasant to take, convenient to carry, give keen appetite, perfect digestion.

Mr. W. D. Tomlin, Mechanical Engineer, Duluth, Minn.: One box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets has done its work, and I am again gaining flesh and strength.

O. E. Ransom, Hustonville, Ky.: I was distressed and annoyed for two years with throwing up food, often two or three times a day; had no certainty of retaining a meal if I ate one. Four boxes of the tablets from my druggist, have fully cured me. I find them pleasant to take, convenient to carry.

Rev. G. D. Brown, Mondovi, Wis.: The effect of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is simply marvelous; a quiet hearty dinner of broiled beef steak causes no distress since I began their use.

Over six thousand people in the state of Mich. alone in 1894 were cured of stomach troubles by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Full sized packages may be found at all druggists at 50c., or sent by mail on receipt of price from Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

A GREAT TOWN FOR WHEELS, THIS.

Even the Saloon Men Want to Represent Some Bicycle Factory.

William Lonn, representing the Crown Cycle Company, of La Porte, Indiana, was in the city today. He says more wheel agents are to be found in this city than any place in the state outside of Milwaukee.

"I have been in cities where they handle wheels in hardware stores and exclusive bicycle stores, but here they even handle them in drug stores, barber shops, grocery stores, seed stores, book stores, furniture stores, gun shops and music stores. Why, a local saloon keeper wanted the agency for my wheel, 'just for a side issue.'"

Iowa Likely to Have a Lynching
Sheldon, Iowa, Feb. 18.—A. L. Bull and G. Morello have been arrested on the charge of murdering Maude Strawn. Public feeling is strong against the prisoners and there may be a double lynching. Bull had of late been paying considerable attention to Miss Strawn, and it is thought that he had secured the girl's confidence. SITUATION IN PARIS.

Deputies in Defying the Senate Have Endangered the Constitution.

Paris, Feb. 18.—The political crisis which has arisen out of the demands of the senate for a vigorous and thorough inquiry into the Southern railway scandals, that body having emphasized its attitude in the matter by twice refusing a vote of confidence in the Bourgeois ministry, is now practically a struggle between the chamber of deputies, which has supported the radical ministry, and the senate, which seems bent on overthrowing it, even at the cost of most serious disturbances. The chamber of deputies, it is asserted, has practically, by defying the senate, endangered the constitution, and the result is a condition of affairs about as threatening as any since the troublesome times of 1870-71.

TO THE WINTER FAIRENTHUSIASM IS MANIFESTED ON EVERY SIDE.

Business Men Join Hands in an Effort to Secure the Best Possible Showing of Rock County Farm Products—Entries All Free.

There will be $700 in money to make the Janesville Farm Institute and Midwinter fair interesting.

Single premiums of $45, $30 and $25 are to be offered.

Right down the list the prizes are as big as are offered at the state fair.

Both floors of the big McKee store on South Main street are to be occupied—the first floor filled with exhibits, the second floor accommodating the free cooking school in charge of Mrs. Jameson.

The institute meetings will be held in the court house.

Everybody in Janesville is enthusiastic over the fair. Only three business men have refused to give and in most cases subscriptions have been without solicitation.

A $45 corn cultivator for the best bushel of corn.

Twenty-five dollars in cash for the best showing of tobacco.

Twenty-five dollars in cash for the best gentleman's driver exhibited on Main street.

These are three of the prizes.

Few and simple were the conditions decided on by the committee last night.

All entries absolutely free.

All exhibits must be produced by the exhibitor.

Exhibits must be in place Tuesday, March 3, by 10 o'clock—and by Monday evening, if possible.

Entries close Monday, March 3, at 6 p. m.

No resident can take any prize.

Send entries to Fred L. Clemens, Secretary, Janesville, Wis.

HOUSES OF GLASS.

Some people I know have curious ways. They will ensure fast all of mankind. They'll hunt for the flaws in their neighbors' next door.

To their own they seem rather blind. There's many a man gone wrong in this world Through troubles abroad or at home. So don't push them down with a kick or a frown. But give them a chance to atone.

You've all heard the story 'bout houses of glass. So often you've picked up your stone. Before you have shattered that cottage next door. Why, just take a look at your own.

I read a small piece in the paper today Which caused me to ponder and think— How a poor boy had fallen a victim to crime— While enslaved by that dread demon, drink. "Ten years you must serve," said the judge on the bench.

His poor mother cried, with a moan, "Don't sentence my boy, my hope and my joy! But give him a chance to atone."

—Walter Fletcher in New York Herald.

A TIN CUP VERDICT.

The sun was low toward the western peaks when old Jones and his nephew halted their teams for the night. Old Jones and his relative were freighters, and the crack of their long, shot-filled mule whips and the creak of their heavy wagons had been heard in half of the camps of Colorado.

The four wagons tonight were swung into the segment of a circle, and the mules were cast loose from the straps in which through the day they pulled. At this relief these grateful slaves stood about and attested their joy in the loud cries peculiar to their kind, but which are so unfortunate in their lack of harmony. To stop this the nephew went about giving them their vesper feed. This he placed in morrals or nosebags, which he hung to their hungry heads. Old Jones built a little fire and began the compilation of an intricate but savory dish known to those happy ones who have the recipe as "freighters' stew."

Supper over, the two freighters sat about in the lurking shadows made by the fire's blink and glimmer, smoking their pipes. All at once there was a commotion in the band of mules. Those patient folk, who had scrambled and pulled all day over a rough mountain trail with wagons loaded on the principle of 1,200 pounds to a mule, and who now in the properties of mule life should be at peace with the world, were charging about and snorting in a very alarming way.

"Injuns!" said old Jones, shoving back into the gloom. "Injuns for $1,000! There ain't no animal on earth, bar Injuns, ever makes mules take on that away."

The nephew thought so too. Old Jones and the nephew did not fear attack. There were no Injuns about that were not described as friendly.

What they did fear was that the mules might be stampeded. Stampeding stock is a great aboriginal industry. The Indian will sneak up, flap a blanket, stampede your cattle or mules and then claim $1 a head for finding them for you. Thus do these wise sons of nature fill their coffers and exact a revenue from those who cross their lands.

Jones' nephew took a Winchester from a wagon and began to work his cautions, silent way toward the mules. These last were still snorting and shying as if prey to wild alarm. The nephew disappeared in the darkness. Old Jones placed his hand over his pipe bowl so its fiery eye could not be seen and peered after him into the gloom.

"Bang! Bang! Bang!" It was the Winchester speaking. It told the Indian policy of the border, and a very sufficient policy it is too. Old Jones at the sound heaved a sigh, but never moved. After a little the nephew came in to the fire. He seemed alert, hopeful and unrelenting as to the Winchester Indian policy.

"Did you stretch one?" said old Jones. "I think most likely I did," said the nephew in a sanguine way. "We can tell in the morning, shore."

The mules were now quiet. Firearms had no terror for them. They could stand the odor of gunpowder, but of Indians—bah! No mule of taste could stand it a second. After another half hour old Jones and his nephew kicked out the embers of their fire and went to sleep.

Old Jones and his nephew had visitors in the morning. The whole Ute tribe and their agent came to the freighters' camp. The members of the Jones family at once seized their Winchester and alaciously prepared for war. The Utes ran about, jumping and yelling and demanding vengeance. Old Jones and his nephew stood silent and grim behind their wagons and showed their iron teeth. The agent insisted on peace. Would the Jones who had killed the Ute the night before give himself up? He would be guaranteed from harm, but the Utes insisted on his arrest. They, the Indians, would attack the wagons if the criminal did not surrender. So spoke the agent, a nervous little incompetent, as many an Indian agent is.

"Give up nothing," said old Jones derisively. "You tell them Utes if they want anything round yere to waltz in and get it."

The Utes howled and danced still harder and higher at this, and the agent talked more earnestly than ever. He threatened the Joneses with the power of the government. This was too much. They would fight the whole Ute tribe, but they were afraid of Uncle Sam. After a brief parley the nephew stepped out and gave himself up to the agent. He would have displayed more sense if he had remained behind his wagon and died in the smoke of his Winchester.

The agent, the nephew and the Utes did not go a mile toward the agency before the Indians took the nephew, and tying him to a pine tree spent several blissful hours in torturing him to death. The agent was powerless to interfere.

Jones, the elder, knew the truth the evening of the same day. He turned a little pale under the 30 years of tan which browned his face, but said nothing. As well as he could he managed to hitch up his teams and went ahead.

His course was slow. Where the song was easy the nephew's team—eight mules—could follow the others and got along all right. Where it was rough old Jones halted them and after driving his own team over came back for them.

Two months later the old man unloaded his freight at a camp in the Gunnison country. He told the story of his nephew's death and charged it to the agent. The populace agreed with him to a man. Old Jones insisted that the agent should likewise suffer death. Public sentiment rushed to the same conclusion. Every man in the Tin Cup district who heard of the matter at once advised Jones to go back and kill the miserable agent or to hire some one who would. Never was public sentiment so uniform in a matter before. It was beautiful.

"Hire some one to go back and kill the agent."

This struck old Jones, who had strong commercial instincts, as a good thing. He inquired for some one who would undertake the enterprise. He did not think it should cost much.

"It is dead easy to do," he said. "Just ride calmly up to the agency and beef him and then ride away. That oughtn't to cost no fortune." And he was "willing to give a horse and outfit and $500."

"I'll go you," said a bad looking gentleman called Curly Bill.

Curly Bill was certainly a very bad man, as any one might see by examining his six shooter. He had fled away the sight, as superfluous to one so sure and keen, and had taken out the trigger, trusting to explode his interesting weapon by the simple process of letting the hammer fall from his thumb. These changes in the ground plan of a Colt's 44 always speak a bad man the wide west over, and such was Curly Bill, the personage who wanted to hire out to kill the agent.

Preliminaries were arranged, and the horse and outfit were turned over, in company with $200 of the $500, and Curly Bill rode away on his long pull for the Ute agency.

Six weeks and their happenings were added to history, and so far nothing floated back from Curly Bill. One afternoon he rode again into camp in the Gunnison country. The public and old Jones crowded about for news. Curly Bill entered a saloon. The public and old Jones followed in and at his request took a drink with him. At last old Jones put the question:

"Did you get him, Curly?"

"No," said Curly Bill.

"Why not?"

"Well," said Curly Bill, with an amiable drawl, "I'll tell you what's the matter. You see, the cuss offered me $1,000 to come back and down you."

There was a profound silence. Old Jones seemed thoughtful and cast down, and the public waited. At last old Jones put another pertinent inquiry.

"Well, whatever do you allow you'll do about it?"

"Whatever'll you do about it?" said Curly Bill. "Will you raise him?"

"S'pose I don't raise him?" said old Jones. "S'pose I don't even call him?"

And an ugly glare began to shine in his watery, gray eyes, albeit his voice was low and his face calm.

"Well," said Curly Bill, with vast nonchalance, "in that event I reckon I'll have to go him."

The public took a deep breath at this announcement, and old Jones seemed plunged in thought again. At last he found his voice.

"I'll think this yere matter over, Bill, and I reckon on fixing up something so you won't complain none of me. You be yere, and I'll come back in an hour."

Then old Jones proceeded straight to his wagons, got his Winchester, and coming in the back door of the saloon wherein Curly Bill was refreshing himself after the campaign, blew that celebrated head off without a word.

Old Jones gave himself up to the citizens' committee and demanded a trial. It was had at once. Every man in camp knew of the killing and its entire history. They all approved it too. It was esteemed, however, not a proper thing to allow the plot to kill the agent to go abroad to the world. The account might in unskillful mouths become garbled and hurt the camp's reputation. So when old Jones was acquitted, which denouement was rapid in its coming, the verdict read thus:

"Justified killin on account of Curly Bill insultin of old Jones' wife."—San Francisco Express.

Strict Compliance Exacted.

The laugh is on a Milo (Me.) farmer. He prides himself on regularity in feeding his live stock, especially his pig. The other day he found he would be obliged to be away at the usual hour, so he told his wife to be careful and feed the pig just on the stroke of 12. This advice was repeated several times before he started, and, as he drove off, his parting admonition was, "Remember the pig."

His business took him to a neighboring town, and he had been there but a short time when a telegram was handed to him. Fearing the worst, he opened it and read, "Shall I feed the pig on local or standard time?" and the message was "collect."—Boston Herald.

Husbanding the Minutes.

It is wonderful to see how many hours prompt people contrive to make of a day. It is as if they picked up the moments the dawdlers lost. And, if ever you find yourself where you have so many things pressing upon you that you hardly know how to begin, let me tell you a secret—take hold of the very first one that comes to hand. You will find the rest will all fall into line, and follow after like a company of well drilled soldiers.—Examiner.

Still Proud.

"Yes, brethren," said the convert, "I am a humble Christian now, but in my unregenerate days, I flatter myself that you wouldn't meet a finer or more thoroughbred sinner in a day's walk."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Double Portion.

The "double portion" is often the only remedy for our losses. Nearly forty years ago a girl just stepping into womanhood bade good-by to parents, friends, and home, and set off across the American continent to China, on the way to meet her missionary lover, who had gone out some years before to make ready for her. Several months went by, and the friends waiting in the old home received her first letter. She wrote: "I have traveled for seven months through strange continents and over tempestuous seas to meet my beloved, and I have found the grass seven months green upon his grave." The missionary friends wished to take her to their own house, but she refused. "Let me go to the home he made for me," she said, and there she took up her abode. Thirty years after, visiting her native land for the first time, with a record of missionary work behind her such as few women have ever achieved, she said: "From some people I believe God takes away the pain of loss for the asking. With others of us he leaves it all unlighted, and only gives the strength to bear it. So it has been with me, that I might the better realize the desolation and darkness of the lives of those Christless Chinese women." So she won her "double portion."

The First Lawyer Lord Mayor.

It may be of interest to lawyers to know that although the ancient ceremony of the reception of the lord mayor of London has taken place regularly for the last 800 years, this last is the first known case in which a practicing member has been elected as lord mayor. Chief Justice Russell made an address to the new mayor, in which he called attention to the fact that there is no longer any real ground for complaint of the law's delays in England.

Must Have Wooden Locks.

About 4 per cent of the prisoners in the Arkansas state penitentiary escaped during the twelve months ending with last October. The total of prisoners in the penitentiary during the year was 1,456, and of these fifty-seven escaped and 362 were discharged. During October four escaped and nineteen were discharged.

BE STRONG AND BEARTY.

How to be Strong and Full of Life and Vigor:

If you starved for two days you would feel as weak as a cat.

Proof enough that your food is the cause of your strength.

If your stomach is sick, you're starving away your strength. Slowly perhaps, but none the less surely.

You feel it yourself.

You have nausea, loss of appetite, headache, giddiness, pain in the stomach, loss of strength, spirits and ambition.

What do you think? That it's your head? But it's not. It's simply your stomach.

Food is strength. Stomach makes it available. If stomach won't work, food does not become available strength.

Shaker Digestive Cordial will, in a few doses, make your stomach well and help your food make you strong.

Who wouldn't be strong? Whoever won't take Shaker Digestive Cordial.

Sick, tired, weary men and women, those who are working their bodies and brains too hard will find relief and strength in Shaker Digestive Cordial.

It makes strength. It makes health. It makes happiness.

It's not an ordinary medicine. It's a cordial.

It's pleasant to take, and more than pleasant in its results.

For sale by all druggists, at 10, 25, 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle.

Ready Wit.

A professor was waiting for a train at a railway station, and, having nothing better with which to take up his mind, began chaffing the half-witted fellow who did odd jobs about the place. "I say, Jamy," said the professor, in a tone intended to reach the ears of the bystanders, "were you ever at college?" "No, sir," answered Jamy, "but I've been at school."

"Indeed!" said the witty professor. "And who had the honor to be your schoolmaster?"

"Maister Black."

"Why," said the wit, "he was my schoolmaster, too!"

"Do tell me!" exclaimed Jamy. "Man, who'd 'a' thought old Black could have turned out two like us?"—Scottish Nights.

"Do you ask proof that my client is insane?" he asked. "Well, there is plenty of it. When he came to engage my services he promised me $10,000 if I would take the case, and yet he hasn't a cent. Is that the act of a sane man?"

"Did you know that when you took the case?" asked the attorney for the prosecution.

"Certainly."

And the court so ruled.—Chicago Evening Post.

"The Greatest Service."

One of those men who say something which they had better left unsaid addressed the late Rev. Charles Spurgeon as he was passing out of church.

Grasping the preacher by the hand the man said: "I see you have forgotten me, sir; and yet you once did me the greatest service that a clergyman can render to anybody."

"What service was that?" asked Spurgeon.

"You buried my wife, sir," replied the man, his eyes suffused with tears.
